School Board Discusses New School Addition

Coleman School Board in regular meeting Monday night delved thoroughly into the needs and advisabilities of the new 2-room addition to the West Coleman school this year. A request will be made to the Department of Education for plans to be considered.

The Board was in agreement with a plan for two rooms on the ground floor complete with full sized basement, and roof adaptable to building additional rooms if necessary. It was felt that the inclusion of a full sized basement at this time would facilitate an auditorium or space that is needed with a six-room school.

The meeting under the chairmanship of Melville Cornett, also discussed the matter of willful damage to school property and passed a motion to the effect that parents be circulated to the effect that they will be held for financial responsibility in the future.

Trustees Holly and Cornett, returned by acclamation took the oath of office. On the motion of Trustee Clarke, chairman Cornett and secretary Nora Gouding were reappointed. Chairman Cornett then appointed the following committees: Finance, Holly and Dunford; Works & Property, Clarke and Wilson; Fire committee, Wilson and Clarke.

Trustee Dunford passed the motion that the Works & Property committee make regular visits to the school, while some considerable attention was given to complaints regarding the school bus entering the grounds at West Coleman School. It was decided that the bus drivers be notified to load and unload outside the school grounds immediately in front of the building.

Correspondence was read from Sam Sagoff in regards to the purchase of five and a half lots owned by the school board on 4th Street E. The meeting decided that the board should retain this property. Further correspondence showed that both the Coleman Light and Water and McGillivray Coal Co. report no decrease in price of services or products can be made at this time.

Reading of the minutes of previous meetings brought discussion as to the wage rate for Mr. Spillers. The board felt that as this teacher was performing a great duty among the students and that because it was no fault of his own that he could not obtain a Senior certificate, he be paid according to the Senior certificate scale. The minutes also brought up the matter of English classes for displaced persons. It was reported that in the past various classes have been held but the students soon lose interest and the plan falls through.

Principal Allen in his report mentioned the fact that the school opera will be held this month and that the usual high percentage in attendance was evident the past two months.

Payment of $6 and a note of thanks was authorized to those who gave the use of their cars to transport students. Other accounts were examined and authorized for payment.

In attendance were the chairman and secretary, Trustees Clarke, Dunford and Holly, and Principal Allen.

Attention Curlers!

The annual Bunny Bonspiel will take place in Bellevue, April 11, 12 and 13. It is requested that all entries be placed at an early date as only 64 players will be allowed to compete.

FIRE INSPECTOR LELLAND VISITS THE PASS

Fire Inspector Lelland of Lethbridge spent several days visiting the various Fire Brigades in the towns of the Crow's Nest Pass. While in Coleman Mr. Lelland commended the local Fire Brigade for having some of the latest fire fighting equipment. He also commented on the Coleman Civil Defence fire squad which he classed as being one of the most advanced in the towns throughout the Province of Alberta.

Coleman Juveniles To Play Drumheller Here on Sunday

Coleman Juveniles traveled to Drumheller last Sunday and in the first game of a two game series, total goals to count, lost a close 3-2 decision. Witnessed by nearly 1400 screaming fans, the game was judged one of the best seen in Drumheller in years.

The same teams play in Coleman on Sunday, March 16, with the winner to meet the winners of the Vegreville-Wainwright series for the Provincial title.

Booster tags are now on sale, and a capacity crowd is expected at the Arena when the whistle is blown at 2 p.m.

Coleman Rodeo July 4th - 5th

In a Board of Trade meeting held on Feb. 28 the members were able to set the date for the coming rodeo. The rodeo will be held on July 4 and 5. There will be an evening performance on July 4 and continuation of the rodeo will take place next day.

Mr. Herman Linder, arena director, was guest at the meeting and he pointed out the ever increasing difficulties of staging such a show. Prices of labor and transportation costs have so increased that holding a rodeo now involves a large expenditure. Mr. Linder also pointed out that if the U.S. cattle embargo continued until that time, Canadian herds may well be used at a possible higher cost.

Jim Wilkie was nominated president of the rodeo committee and Rowland Hill treasurer.

Blairmore Merchants Meets Snag

The petition given to the Blairmore council by some merchants was brought up at a council meeting in Blairmore recently and was turned over to Mr. S. G. Bannan for legal advice. Mr. Bannan advised the council that the petition was not signed by at least two-thirds of the shops as required by the Early Closing Act. The objections raised to the petition were sufficient to warrant its failure. A survey of shops in Blairmore revealed at least 40 shops and only 20 have signed the petition. If it was the intention to close, certain specified stores, then the petition is inadequately signed. Two out of five hardware stores have signed, six grocery stores out of a possible twelve, and only three out of at least seven electrical supply stores have signed the petition.

President A. E. Harper and secretary Bill Holby of the Crow's Nest Pass Retail Merchants Association presented a letter from the Minister of Industries and Labor to the council but as the letter was addressed to the secretary of the Retail Merchants Association, the council would not accept it and the original ruling given by Town Solicitor.

Jack Rushton Recalls Driving For Burns Co.

Jack Rushton is known to everyone in Coleman and to many others outside of Coleman but few know the history behind this man whom we may see about town and at every community occasion. Although this in no way tells the whole story, it may serve as an insight into and appreciation of one of our old time residents.

Jack came from Tydesley, Lancashire, England in 1905 and went to Michel where a sister, Mrs. Carr, now Mrs. T. Marryman residing at Nanaimo, lived. Jack worked in Michel as a "backhand" until 1910, at the same time he and his sister ran a boarding house. He recalls the fire of 1908 at which time all women in Michel were evacuated to Coleman via box-car. Furniture, clothing and bedding were buried to save them from the fire, but Jack does not recall where these items now are. The wages at the mine as that time were $2.50 a day and times were considered good. While at Michel he was a member of the miners union and also a member of the Order of Eagles, an organization which is still functioning today.

Mr. Rushton came to Coleman in 1911 and worked for the P. Burns Co. whose branch was managed by Victor Lowden who later ran the 41 Meat Market and who now operates a butcher shop in Revelstoke. Jack drove a team of horses to the York Creek boarding house with supplies three times weekly. At that time Henry DeCoster ran the boarding house. He also made regular trips to McLaren saw mill, then situated where the municipal hospital is today.

When he took up residence in Coleman, Mr. Rushton said the town was quite small. The Grand Union hotel was the wooden structure. George Claes was then running the hotel and Sam Moore was operating a billiard room there. The old and now extinct Opera House was the theatre and people would pick up their meals after the show with the result that closing time was 1 a.m. Sunday mornings. Up until two years ago Jack was secretary of the Saint John Ambulance Association, a position he held for 27 years. He was presented with a King George V medal in 1925 for outstanding work in this organization and is now a Servant Brother of the organization. Among his various certificates Jack has one from the Venerable Order of Saint John of Jerusalem for passing the 18th exam in first aid. He was presented with a history book of Saint John's Ambulance by Dr. Borden and receives an annual invitation to go to London, to attend an investiture.

Salary Negotiations Discussed At Teachers' Meeting

A regular meeting of the CNP Local A.T.A. was held in Hcrest on Feb. 28, with approximately 40 Pass teachers attending. Salary reports were given by representative of the Pass towns. Miss Sellon of Blairmore reported that negotiations with the board were not as yet completed. Mr. Perceval of Bellevue reported that their negotiations with the board resulted in the following increases: the minimum was raised from $1600 to $1800, payment for a university degree was increased $150 from $750 to $900, and room supervision payment increased from $40 to $50 per room.

A forum discussion led by Mr. McPherson with Mr. Allen, Mr. Ondrus, Mr. Nadeau, and Mr. Jalpep, dealt with accumulative records. The forum discussed the interpretation and acquisition of home environment information, personality ratings, testing programs, and the value and need of a vocational library.

The group suggested asking Mr. J. McKay, inspector of schools for the Pincher Creek Division and for the Pass, to attend the next forum discussion.

LIONS WIN RED & WHITE CUP

The Lions Pee-Wee Hockey team won the Red & White cup by their win over the Patinators. The win was a convincing 6-0 shutout, the sixth of the year for Lion net minder Sonny Truch.

In the semi-finals the Lions edged the Elks 2-1, while the Patinators while washed the Legionnaires 5-0. Out of nine games played, the Lions allowed 5 against them.

BREAK IN AT COLEMAN CASH GROCERY

For the third time in ten months the Coleman Cash Grocery was entered sometime during the night of Saturday, Mar. 1. Mr. Allan reported that quite a large amount of material was taken although he had as yet not estimated the actual amount. The thieves entered through the cellar door, which, according to Mr. Allan is hard to open normally and must have made considerable noise when it was forced open.

Grands Remain In Playoffs With Decisive Win Over Medicine Hat

The Coleman Grands after losing to Medicine Hat 5-4 in the first of their 3-game series came back with a 3-2 victory over the gas city boys and so discouraged them that the third game was defaulted by Medicine Hat. The Grands now meet the winner of the High River-Canmore series.

Voting Disappointing In Civic Elections

A disappointing number of voters turned up at the polls for the civic elections on Monday, March 3. Out of a possible 1140 eligible voters only 251 ballots were cast. Of these, W. Dibbles received 189, J. Wavrean 137, and Derbyshire 128. There were no spoiled ballots. J. Wavrean and W. Dibbles were returned to office in the town council.

In contrast, the Frank elections, where three candidates contested one seat, there were 122 ballots cast out of a possible 143. Four of these were spoiled. F. Vojprava received 44, T. Paterson Jr. 38, and M. Cerny 34.

Wage Increases Offered To Town Employees

A special council meeting was held on Monday, March 10 with Mayor N. E. Abousafy, G. Jenkins, W. Dibbles, A. Toppiano and J. Wavrean present. As this meeting was called only because it was required by law, there was not too much business to take up. The regular meeting will be held next Tuesday.

J. A. McDonald reported to the council that the Civic Defence school is nearing completion and that recruits are now needed in all sections of the organization. He suggested placing an ad. in the paper to appeal for recruits. The council agreed to run this ad. Mr. McDonald told the council that expenses for the Civic Defence would arise soon and outlined a few items that the organization would need in the near future.

The wage committee reported on its proposed increases to town employees. Employees on monthly salary will be offered a 12% wage boost, laborers doing special work will be paid $125 an hour, an increase of 15c. Casual laborers are offered $1.15 per hour, an increase of 17% over the present rate. Assistant Police wages would increase from $45 to $50 per month; janitor from $30 to $35; office help will receive a boost of 15c bringing the rate to $125 an hour. Fire fighters will be offered $2.00 per hour for the first two hours and $1.25 for each hour afterwards. The wage proposals were accepted by the council.

Collins & Hames were appointed auditors for the year 1962.

The Handy Spot in East Coleman has changed hands. Mr. and Mrs. J. Trstenky Jr. former proprietors are leaving for Ontario where they will reside in the future. Mr. and Mrs. J. Wons of Hillcrest have taken over the business.

A Date With Civil Defence

An important Civil Defence meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Coleman high school auditorium on March 19. The principal speaker will be Mr. E. Tyler of the Provincial Civil Defence Headquarters, Edmonton. This topic will be "It Can't Happen Here?" The message of this lecture is of vital importance to every Coleman resident. Everyone concerned with the general welfare during emergencies should attend—it will be your individual problem should war come to our province. Keep this night open and be sure to attend.

The lecture will be preceded at 6:30 by a demonstration on the Central School grounds of the effectiveness of the Self Help Parties in fighting fires. The Coleman Fire Department have trained their personnel in the duties of the Self Help Party. This demonstration will show the public the need for individual training in attacking fires which could occur in any home and would occur should Coleman be subject to an incendiary bomb attack.

The Department's Self Help Party will build a fire hut in which an actual demonstration fire will be attacked and extinguished. Their activities will illustrate to those present the type of equipment used, the duties of the various members of the Party, their methods of attacking fire, their methods of protecting each other while engaged in Fire Fighting, the drills required in the use of gas respirators in case war gases are present.

The Fire Department under the leadership of Aldo Montalbetti are taking a leading part in Civil Defence activities, as well as having built up an excellent organization for the protection of this community in the case of fires. This is simply indicated by the excellent report on the Coleman Fire Department as submitted by Inspector Leland of the Provincial Fire Commissioners Office, Edmonton, after his inspection completed last week. Everyone should make a point of witnessing this demonstration and following it up with Mr. Tyler's address.

Controller John A. McDonald has been satisfied with local response to Civil Defence School. Some eighty persons have received instruction with an average of 40 in attendance each night. The lectures deal with Civil Defence in general and the primary purpose is to acquaint citizens with the problems associated with the various departments. In the advent of war there would be terrific problems but a trained citizenry can minimize damage and casualties. What is more important public moral, so important in the successful prosecution of a war, can be maintained. This same disciplined body would prove invaluable in the case of a civilian emergency.

The Civil Defence School will soon reach the end of its program. It is time to consider moving from the planning stage to the active organization of our Defence system. The skeleton organization has to be set up by the planning committee—the problems have been presented during the school course—the plans for the integration and functioning of the organization are ready. The action stage requires that the skeleton organization be filled out by willing recruits—in short it requires you. Your active participation in one or other of the Defence sections alone can assure the successful functioning of the system during emergencies. You are urged to offer your services in this project. You will find elsewhere in this paper an organization chart which will show the section in which you can best serve—contact any of the Defence committee named.

Setting Up A Hockey Forward Line

The players on a line should be mentally and physically compatible. In other words, the coach should study the players carefully both in regard to their attitude and physical qualifications and try to form his groups so that the same types are playing together. If this is not done, you will often find a defence-minded team mates which will very likely interfere with the cohesion and co-ordination of the line.

There seems to be no reason why three players who are compatible should not be placed on one line regardless of whether or not they all shoot from the same side. It has been proved that a right-handed player, for example, loses nothing of his effectiveness when playing on left wing.

If a coach wants a certain line or group to be an offensive threat, he must think offensively when making up a line. It is very difficult to get an effective offensive unit from a group of three players who think differently.

The habit of placing one defensive man on a line with two strong offensive players in order to keep the checking emphasis in line may prevent scores by the opposition, but at the same time it frequently weakens the offensive strength of the same line.

It seems by far the best thing to put your offensive forwards together no matter how weak their checking and the same thing holds true with your defensive men no matter how weak their offensive skill. Then, try to improve either the defence or the offensive play of the group concerned until this phase of their game is strong enough to make the line effective. After all, an offensive unit can't forget about defence altogether. Actually the problem gets back to the basic point, do you spoil the offensive strength by bringing into consideration the defensive picture at the same time? The answer seems to be that the players must be taught a clear-cut definition of when the offensive obligation shifts to a defensive one.

To make an offensive work to peak efficiency, the players must be able to concentrate on it without a haunting feeling that they are neglecting their defensive play. Long hours of defensive instruction may ruin the effectiveness of the offensive pattern which a forward line may have developed. In any game, the offence that works best is the one that is organized and carried out with fire and abandon. And don't forget that an opposing team can't score goals if your team has possession of the puck.

Probably the best example of the ideal line set-up is the Lindry, Abel, Howe combination of the Detroit Red Wings of the N.H.L. They are all offensive minded, can check, set up plays, and score goals with the best in the league, yet each one has an outstanding ability of his own which balances the offensive and defensive power. Although each man on this line is a good checker, particularly Lindsay, they do most of their checking in the opposing team's forecheck, really hemming the opposing team in their own end. Then too, they're "puck hawks", pouncing on any loose puck like a shot when the opportunity arises. It's reasonably safe in saying that most of the time when they're on the ice, this line usually have possession of the puck with but one thought in mind, and that is—to score goals!

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Among a series of unkind remarks about the characteristics of husbands, a feminine scribe says: "They get close haircuts to hide the gray creeping in about the ears." Isn't it strange considering the time, effort and money women spend on rejuvenating their appearance that they should be inclined to sneer at a man who wants to appear as young as possible? It is not always vanity in a man. Many a fellow has a very good practical reason for wanting to avoid the appearance of age. Women have a variety of means for rejuvenating the appearance of their hair, and nothing is thought of it. But if a man, even one whose profession may demand he maintain a fairly youthful appearance, wears a toupee the ladies make him the subject of derision.

There Should Be a Law . . .

Why shouldn't there be a law that house numbers must be placed in a prominent position and illuminated at night? Give the messenger boys, delivery men and guests who are making their initial visit a break. Have you ever wandered around a section strange to you trying to spot a house number with no success? And then when you have finally found it have the hostess give you a dirty look for being late to dinner?

Speaking of Records

Ever hear of triplets being born in different years? I am referring to one set of triplets. It happened in Norfolk, Eng. One triplet was born in 1951, the other two in 1952. The period between the birth of the first of the triplets and the other two was one week. This is said to be the record for elapsed time between the birth of triplets.

Professional Pride

Which trade requires more training and more intelligence, butcher or barber. In Cleveland a barber sued a customer for calling him a "butcher". The judge in commenting on the case said that it required much more intelligence and training to be a butcher than it did a barber.

His First Love

Prince Charles of England is an avid dog enthusiast. He is continually asking his parents to give him a dog. He wants a big dog, Dalmation or a Great Dane. He calls dogs "woofers". First time he saw a Pekinese he screamed with laughter saying to his nurse: "Look at that funny woofers!"

Cure for Catarrh

Italians rarely have nasal catarrh. This is because their language makes them use the nasal cavities. This is also why so many Italians are good singers. So I note it claimed. Therefore, if you are bothered by nasal catarrh, why not learn to speak Italian? It might also make you a good singer.

So if you, as a player, find yourself out of place with a couple of "goal hawks" take it up with the coach and I'm sure he will only be too glad to straighten things out. Remember, you've got to enjoy playing with your linemates.

Ask "Why"?

Whenever you make a fake or manoeuvre that fails try to figure out why it failed. Figure out what your opponent did that stopped you, decide if you moved too soon or too late and so on. If you get this habit of studying why your tricks fail you will soon acquire enough knowledge and information about your own play that will help you perform them better. Check to see what tricks work most effectively. Then put them to use when they will really count. Never use your best tricks too often—save them for important moments.

Keep Fit

Perfect physical condition is the foundation on which all success in sport must be built. It is also the foundation of healthy, worthwhile and happy living. Perhaps the most important factor regarding how you feel each day is the general regularity of your day to day living habits. If your every day living habits such as sleeping, eating, elimination, exercise and so on are performed on a regular schedule pretty close to the same time each day, your body gets into a smooth working groove — it learns to know what is expected of it and thus acts more efficiently on a regular, steady basis.

However, if your daily habit pattern is not conducted on a regular schedule your body never has a chance to get in that groove, and as a result you can't depend on just how you are going to feel. Thus, if you want to be assured that you are giving yourself every chance to feel at peak condition regularly, make sure you regulate your daily living habits.

THE WIND IN THEIR FACE

It is easy to travel life's road every day.

With the wind in your back all along the way.

It gives you a lift when the going is hard;

It puts wings to your feet, and does not retard.

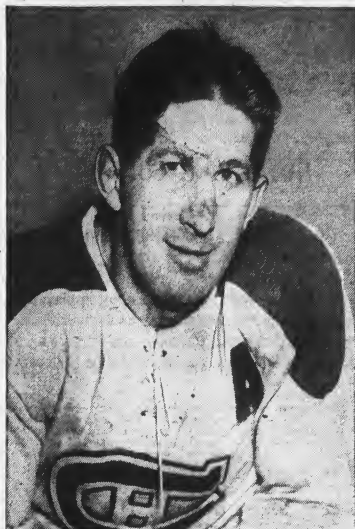

It is easy to prosper with the wind helping you.

And you wonder why others are not gaining too?

Are not sailing through life with abandon and grace.

Yet you never once think—They're the wind in their face!

Premier's Daughter Seeks Stage Career

REGINA. — The ambition of 18-year-old Shirley Douglas, daughter of Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, is to do her life work on the stage.

But diminutive Shirley has no hankering for the political stage. Ever since childhood she has wanted to be an actress.

Shirley, five feet two, weighing less than 100 pounds, took an important step in that direction recently when she won the "best actress" award in the annual Saskatchewan Regional Drama Festival. She will attempt a report in the Dominion lines.

Her first part was at the age of five when she played an angel in a Sunday school Christmas pageant in Weyburn, Sask., where she was born.

Shirley's first lead was as a fairy in a school play, also at Weyburn. She was in grade two at that time. Since then she has taken many parts in school plays, first at Weyburn and later in Regina when the family moved here.

Last year the Manitoba textbook bureau distributed 1,000,000 books to teachers, pupils and schools.

Curling Playdowns Bring Canada Closer Together

The first half of this century has seen many changes in the game of curling in Canada!

There are, however, some things about it that have not changed. It is still not divided into amateur and professional. There is no one group who makes a living by teaching or playing the game and there is still no group of officials whose duty would be to watch the players and inflict punishment for infraction of rules.

There are of course regulations, many of them, but there are no penalties if they are not observed, for the spirit of curlers is to obey the rules rather than to break them.

The changes that have occurred are good ones. There has been created a close association between east and west, brought about largely by the Macdonald Brier competition and the formation of the Dominion Curling Association.

There has been a great increase in the number of clubs and the adoption of artificial ice plants by those who suffered from climatic changes has provided much more and much better curling. The game itself has become a game for men and women, boys and girls, instead of an old man's game.

TOP BLOOD DONORS

VANCOUVER, B.C. — The University of British Columbia claimed a North American campus record for donating blood to the Red Cross. The UBC's total donations in a blood donating drive topped the 3,000-pint objective by four pints. That beat a previous mark set last year by Texas University. The Texans gave 2,810 pints of blood. The American college lists 17,500 students and the Canadian has 5,555. The figure showed that 54 per cent of the UBC students donated blood.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Revival

It appears that hockey enthusiasm in Coleman follows a cycle pattern. We are all great enthusiasts when we have a winning squad but the arena sounds like a morgue when our clubs are not in playoff positions. This may be true of other towns and cities in the sports world also, but in recent years we have hit rock-bottom. In the pre-war years, when the Coleman Canadians were in the senior loop there was no lack of hockey fans in the arena Saturday nights. Understandable enough, this support dropped during the war years. The job then was to win a war. People were too busy, what with money and one thing and another, to take time off occasionally and see their young sons compete. Since the war, sports-minded people (and there are a lot of them) have slowly found their way back to the arena once again.

Up until Sunday afternoon we had three teams in Alberta playoff series. We refer to the midgets, the juveniles, and the intermediates. On Sunday the midgets were knocked out of their playoff trail by the stronger Gleichen club but let's not get discouraged yet! We still have two clubs which are going great guns.

It was a pleasure to see that a large portion of the Sunday crowd was made up of old sport fans, and we hope they keep boosting our local young players by attending in ever increasing numbers. That we lose a game or series is of little importance in comparison to the pride that we instill in our boys by our attendance, by making them know that we're in there fighting with them. If there is nothing to play for, no one to cheer, what point is there in playing? Your support makes the difference between a spiritless club and a hard-driving, hard-playing, never-say-die club that provides the thrills in hockey.

Financially, the little you pay at the gate helps the club become more and more self-supporting, and anyway, it pays for a little recreation that you badly need.

Shame on Coleman

The civic election has come and gone and we venture to say that a lot of people in town had no inclining that this phenomena had occurred. In comparing the interest that the taxpayers of Coleman have in their government with that of our smaller neighboring town of Frank, we can only conclude that as responsible citizens, we are failing badly, and that living in a country where there is always someone to tell us what to do would not hurt the majority of people in this town.

Roughly 22% of eligible voters bothered to show up at the polls in Coleman; whereas 85% of the possible 143 votes were cast in Frank. Which town then has the superior citizens? Or is that question necessary? Let us think for a moment. Anything we desire in this town will come about when the people want it. If we don't want anything we'll never have anything. We won't know what progress is taking place in other towns simply because we're not even interested enough to know about our own town. Communities smaller than Coleman boast recreational and educational facilities that are still at the dream stage here. We are at present as modern as the old Tennessee hill-billy!

What possibly is more disgusting is that the very people who do not bother to vote are the very ones who are the first to appear at the town hall with their gripes. Are you a non-voting griper?

Pee Wee All Stars Remain Undeclared

Coleman All-Star Pee Wees maintained their undefeated status by defeating Blairmore 6-0 at the Coleman arena last Friday.

Backed by a brilliant defensive pattern and sharp shooting forwards, the locals notched two counters in the second after a scoreless first period. Kerr bagged the first at 58 seconds of the period, converting Foster's pass into the counter. Tarcon got his first of the night at 1:30 after taking a smart pass from the stick of Bartlett.

Having found the range, Coleman sharp shooters scored four unchallenged goals in rapid succession. Tarcon penetrated the Blairmore defense the second time at 11:30, the assist going to Tymchyna. Churila and Zembiak combined in a scoring combination at 12:20, Zembiak asisting. Makowichuk found the range for the 5th marker at 13:45 with Zembiak picking up his second assist. Foster sank the final counter unassisted at the 14:15 mark.

Only two penalties were served, both going to Coleman during the second period. William Truch, brilliant net minder for Coleman scored his eighth shut-out in eleven games this season. In earning this particular one he saved on a penalty shot.

Coleman: W. Truch, B. Fraser, P. Nowasad, J. Tarcon, J. Tymchyna, B. Bartlett, G. Wisko, F. Milley, S. Ondruk, F. Churila, P. Makowichuk, E. Zembiak, K. Foster, G. Kerr, R. Chernecky.

Blairmore: Old, Kura, H. Turner, P. Turner, Bird, DeCoux, Mark, Byrne, Stewart, Gilmar, Battel.

WEDDING

WILSON - MacFARLANE

The marriage of two well-known Coleman residents, Mr. James Wilson and Mrs. Christine MacFarlane took place recently at the United Church Manse. They were attended by Mr. Douglas MacFarlane and Miss Irene Bubniak.

The bride wore a dark green tailored suit with a corsage of red roses, while her attendant wore yellow roses on a wine tailored suit.

Following the ceremony a few close friends gathered at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson leaving by car later for a trip eastwards. The happy couple will reside in Coleman.

CHRISTIE - WALBAUER

A wedding of interest to Coleman people took place at High River United Church on Friday Feb 22nd at 4:30 p.m. when Miss Wilma Walbauer, fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Walbauer of High River was united in marriage to Mr. Don Christie youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Christie of Coleman. Rev. J. Sorochan officiated. The bride looked charming in a white satin bridal gown with Chantilly lace overtopped and wearing a floor length veil. Her bouquet was of yellow roses. The brides attendants were Miss Stella Walbauer, sister of the bride wore a pale blue satin gown and Miss Wilma Bureley wore a turquoise satin gown. Their head-dresses were rose garlands. They carried bouquets of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. Michael Aldoff of Coleman.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the Brant Community Hall where 200 guests sat down to a delicious supper. The tables were decorated with a wedding cake, and flanked with bouquets of daffodils and spring flowers. A dance and social evening was enjoyed. The young couple will reside in Coleman where the groom is employed at the C.F.R. station.

Midgets Eliminated By Gleichen All Stars

The Coleman Midgets successfully knocked out Vulcan for the Southern Alberta crown winning the first game 5-3 in Vulcan on February 29. Flowich and Tarcon proved to be the big guns in this game. Tarcon came up with a 3-goal broadside followed by Flowich with 2. Hunter, Robb and Banks rang the bell for Vulcan. In their second game played in Coleman on Mar. 1, Vulcan's hopes vanished when they took a short count of a 4-2 score. Brian Park led the local club to victory with a two-goal effort while Fracer and Tarcon each tallied once. Bell and Northcott replied for Vulcan.

The Midgets advanced to meet Gleichen at Gleichen on Monday, March 3 where they suffered a stunning 11-0 defeat. The game was played in an open air rink in sub-zero weather and according to the boys the lighting was very poor in their zone. The Gleichen club proved to be a hard-hitting and fast back-checking squad, very well adapted to their arena. The second game in their two-game total goal series was played in Coleman on Sunday, March 9.

In their second encounter, the Gleichen club proved that their 11-0 victory over our local boys was no fluke. Playing on sloppy ice, they again trounced the Coleman Comets 10-4 before a crowd of over 300 fan. The Gleichen sextet was never behind and throughout the game they gave lessons on almost perfect passing and effective back-checking. They led from the opening whistle, drawing first blood at the 40 second mark, and adding another at 2:25. Flowich was able to find the net at the 9:40 mark on an assist from Wilkie.

In the second frame Parks picked up a pass from Tarcon to tie up the issue at 9:35 but a combination play by Tallow and Owlchide put the opposition ahead again just 15 seconds later. From then on it was strictly Gleichen.

Two quick goals by Brown and Corbett and another Coleman tally by "Four" ended the second stanza with the northern club leading 5-3.

Gleichen added 4 more safety counters in the third frame before allowing Coleman the opportunity of a reply. Wilkie managed to squeeze one in on a pass from Lalthwaite to give the local club its fourth and final marker but the compulsion was returned in short order by Bassack who made it 10 for Gleichen.

The Coleman midgets should not feel too gloomy, even though this marks the end to any championship hopes for this year. They did become Southern Alberta champions by virtue of their win over Vulcan, but they realize that the Gleichen club was far superior in every way.

Lineups
Gleichen: Wilton, Bassack, Bassack, Moss, Plante, Brown, Owlchide, Grant, Jerry, Sauve, Gordon, Corbett, Bear Chief, Tallow.

Coleman: Rypen, Fraser, Chalmussen, Tarcon, Tymchyna, Flowich, Lalthwaite, Koury, Zembiak, Knowles, Kuchty, Wilkie, Cornett.

END OF TRAIL FOR MOST-FOUGHT-AFTER U.S. BANK ROBBER—Willie "The Actor" Sutton, one of the 10 most wanted criminals in the U.S., is shown in custody of policemen and a detective after his arrest in Brooklyn, N.Y. A long-time fugitive from a Philadelphia prison which he broke out of on Feb. 10, 1947, Sutton was picked up by two detectives who recognized him on the street and positively identified as the leader of three bandits who stroled into a branch of the Manufacturers Trust Company in New York on March 9, 1936, and exited with $63,942. The most sought-after bank robber in the country, Sutton, whose exploits and disguises have become criminal legend, also has been mentioned by police in many other recent big jobs—including the $1,500,000 robbery of Brink's, Inc., Boston armored car service, in 1936.—Central Press Canadian.

JOHN LEONARD SMALLMAN, 18, known as Canada's richest teenager, and his bride the former Mary Kathleen Connell Steers, 20, as they emerge from St. Martin's Church in London, Ont., after their recent marriage. John was only 14 when he received a $2,600,000 bequest under the will of a great-uncle. The couple have known each other all their lives. Mary Kathleen attended John's birthday parties since they were small children. Although the bride is a Roman Catholic and the groom a Protestant the ceremony was held in the church since London diocese is one of the four in Canada where mixed marriages in a Roman Catholic Church are permitted by the Bishop.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

Family Inspiration

By JANET DORAN

TOM never actually said he was ashamed of Lorna's Aunt Sara and Uncle Ike, but the years of their marriage were mired with his fibs. She re-read Aunt Sara's scrawled letter. The third cup of black coffee reminded Lorna of Tom's crack about coffee with cream and sugar making her look as shapely as her Aunt Sara.

Now her uncle and aunt were coming to visit them—their first trip to the big city, though Tom drove her out to the farm every summer for a few brief calls, driving back alone, if she wanted to stay. How to keep from letting these dear people know how Tom felt? As her foster parents, they adored Tom, Lorna knew. But Tom would be impatient with them. He detested sentiment. He was ambitious and sure of the course he was taking to the top of his career. Uncle Ike and Aunt Sara were at the twilight of their lives. But sometimes Tom wasn't so sure.

"You manage to grub $1,200 the year out of that rock-pocked farm," he told her uncle once, "and you have eggs, cream, butter and fruits and vegetables. Often we can't afford them on my ten thousand a year."

"Nothing's wasted, farming, Tom," her uncle twinkled. "Nothing goes for show and front here. We have everything we want and we sell what's left to make up the stuff we can't produce. It's a good way of life."

"Everything city folks have has to be shipped, stored, and rehandled," Aunt Sara added, "so it costs more to live your way." The explanation irked Tom. He resented their frugal abundance.

Tom was so tense with business worries Lorna didn't tell him that night. After her excellent meal, he jabbed figures on paper. He tossed in his sleep. Lorna kept silent as he got ready for the office.

"That fur coat, Lorna, we won't be able to afford it this year. Sorry!" He had the door open.

"Never mind, Tom, a good tweed will do well."

"The tweed may be out, too," he snapped.

"Uncle Ike and Aunt Sara are coming for the week, Tom," she said, braving the issue. His face tensed.

"When?" he asked sharply, and when she said, "Today," he grinned. "You'll need extra money to get things." Handing her some bills, he added, "Give them a good time, Lorna; it may be the last for a long time."

At home that night, Tom's hands shook as the radio told of the market plunge.

"Maybe I'll apply for a job helping Uncle Ike cut hay," Tom said, alone with Aunt Sara in the kitchen. Her face lit. "The market here was intent on his face."

"Blue break his eyes and Lorna?" she asked.

"Hit 'em the word. We're cleaned."

"We'll be twenty thousand in the hole as well."

"Would twenty-five thousand pull you out?" she asked.

"Might; probably lose that, too, even if I had a rich angel fool-hardy enough to gamble."

"Uncle Ike and I have saved a little. We've been too busy to spend much," she said, "we'd like to help you and Lorna any way we can. You'd look after us, if anything threatened our old age security."

Uncle Ike came out, beaming happily, boyish over the feast in his "If I were twenty years younger, I'd like to be in on that market fight. Takes nerve to weather business like that."

After dinner Tom had on hat and coat for the office. His face was eager again. "I may be late getting back," he told Aunt Sara tenderly. "Bless you for offering, but I won't need your savings, honey. Hang onto them tight." Lorna found the evening a nightmare. And all week it was the same. She saw Tom for a few hours during which he slept woodenly. But he came to the train to see her people home, bringing Aunt Sara a big parcel of dress-making booty. And cigars and a briar pipe for Uncle Ike. His arm about Lorna was firm now, his kiss real.

"We're in the clear now, honey—thanks to Aunt Sara. Guess all I needed was family inspiration." He held her hand, going back to the empty apartment, after the train left. "About that coat, Lorna—you can start looking for one now."

She wanted to cry. More than the coat, more than anything, she was happy that Tom really shared her feelings for her wonderful family.

Sask. Crude Oil Output Hits Record

REGINA — Saskatchewan's crude oil production in 1951 totalled a record 1,249,281 barrels, the resources department reports.

This was an increase of 208,183 barrels over 1950, when the greatest previous yearly production was recorded. In 1949 the province produced 752,188 barrels.

Most of the 1951 output came from the Lloydminster and Lone Rock fields which produce a heavy asphaltic type of oil. Other sources which contributed to last year's total were the Dims, Maidstone and Coleville fields.

At the end of the year there were 101 producing wells in the Saskatchewan side of the Lloydminster field, 77 at Lone Rock, seven at Dims, six at Coleville and three at Maidstone.

THRILLS of the ROARIN' GAME

CHAPLAIN THINKS CURLING HELPS TO MAKE MODEL HUSBAND

WINNIPEG — Does curling contribute to a man becoming a model husband?

Despite the "anguished protests of the curling widows," Rev. Allen R. Hubbard, chaplain of the Dominion Curling association, thinks so.

Addressing players from 11 Canadian rinks attending a special curling service at Westminster United church, here for the MacDonald Brier, he backed up his argument that curling contributes to domestic felicity.

Speaking to the ladies, he said it is estimated that a curler sweeps and polishes approximately 12,000 square feet of ice in the course of a 12-end game.

This was noted as the equivalent of sweeping both floors of a 30x10-foot house, six times.

The weight a curler lifts in the course of an evening is more than one-half ton, which he hurries a distance of 9,000 feet.

On the basis of two games a week, that would be equivalent to shovelling 25 tons of coal from bin to furnace, during the course of a curling season.

Finished with the build-up, Rev. Hubbard suggested:

"Your only problem, ladies, is to persuade your husband that it is just as much fun sweeping floors and shovelling coal as it is sweeping ice and hurling rocks."

He said the skip is always offering good advice, such as:

"Take the broom in the home once in a while, as the dust towel and the floor polisher—things then go more smoothly."

"Stay in the house"—"Yes, we can get so busy with clubs, lodges, sports and church meetings, that home becomes little more than a place to hang our hats. Stay in the house once in awhile—your children have a right to expect it—and your family life will be the better for it."

"Take her Out"—"That's good advice too, for domestic unhappiness has often been traced to the fact that the husband goes his way and the wife goes hers. Take her out, do things together, and you'll not be sorry."

Incidentally, the ladies too might listen to what the skip says, and Rev. Hubbard suggested facetiously:

"Don't be heavy—don't get too wide."

YOUR RED CROSS WHAT IS IT DOING?

INTENTLY watching the director of the rhythm band at the Junior Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital, Reginald, is drummer "Gordie", who in 1947 was admitted to the Hospital at the age of six. Known as "Smiler" he is a most cheerful person in spite of suffering from Rheumatoid Arthritis.

"Gordie" is in grade 5 at the hospital's fine school and attends classes regularly each day with the other boys and girls, receives Physio Therapy treatments daily and all the care that modern medical help can give to this condition.

There are many ways in which your Red Cross does the things you would want to do. Some of the services you render by your contribution are Blood and Blood Plasma Service, which starts this year, will provide any person in Saskatchewan who needs whole blood or plasma transfusions free of charge and without obligation. This is a nation wide project, the largest of its kind ever undertaken by a voluntary organization. Equipment for the laboratory in the University Hospital and the collection depots in Regina and Saskatoon will cost about $140,000. The annual operating expense each year will be approximately $200,000. This service starts this year!

To destitute children overseas were sent 29,823 articles of clothing made by volunteer women workers in Saskatchewan during 1951. The total cost of materials for these garments exceeded $15,000. In addition some 1,775 other articles were made and distributed to needy persons in the Province. The volunteer workers used Red Cross work rooms in this service, as well as doing much of the work in their own homes.

When disaster strikes, your Red Cross is ever ready to serve. Fires and other disasters caused 140 families, involving 404 children and adults, to lose their homes and belongings during the past year. These families promptly received bedding and clothing. Altogether 4,155 pieces of clothing and 2,177 articles of bedding were distributed the fastest possible way to these unfortunate people.

In Saskatchewan the Red Cross operates the only Mother's Milk Bank in Canada. New born infants who require mother's milk, and whose own mothers cannot supply it, benefit by this service. In 1951, 67,073 ounces of milk were collected, pasteurized and kept refrigerated for immediate use in hospitals in Saskatchewan, Regina, Moose Jaw and Prince Albert. When requested shipments are made to other hospitals from these main banks. Some 428 babies received this life saving milk. There is no charge, of course.

Hundreds of people lean on the Red Cross! If you want to borrow a crutch apply to your nearest Red Cross Branch. Last year 840 items, such as wheel chairs, crutches, hospital beds, and other such sick room supplies were loaned free to 755 sick and convalescing persons. There are 17 loaning centres strategically located throughout the province. The Sick Room Loan Service has been a busy one.

Other services in operating are Outpost Hospitals, Nursing Stations, Veterans Services, Swimming and Water Safety, and other instructional projects as well as Highway First Aid Posts.

For six years, despite rising costs, your Red Cross has continued to expand its services without increasing its financial appeal. This year the provincial objective has had to be raised from $250,000 to $300,000 an amount barely sufficient to compensate for increased cost of operation. This amount is the absolute operating minimum for your Red Cross to maintain its WORK OF MERCY.
